

December 21, 2011

Connect with books during TRL Adult Winter Reading program

It's the time of year when magazines, newspapers and radio show hosts all over the country publish their "best books of the year" lists. With the Timberland Regional Library Adult Winter Reading program just around the corner, you can make a list, too—of the books you want to read from January 1 and March 15. Now in its fifteenth year, the program offers chances to win prizes while spending cold winter nights reading the books you love in the format you prefer, whether print, audio, or downloadable.

For each five books finished during the program period, complete a form and turn it in at a Timberland library by March 15. When prizes are drawn the following week, five readers who entered will win an overnight getaway at a resort and ten will win a bag of books and beverages.

Grand Prizes for 2012*

- Lake Quinault Lodge in the Olympic National Forest: One-night stay for two
- Lochaerie Resort on Lake Quinault's north shore: One-night stay for two in a resort cabin with fireplace and kitchen
- Phoenix Inn Suites on the Olympia waterfront: One-night stay with "Romance Package"
- Shelburne Inn in Seaview: One-night lodging in an antique-appointed deluxe room, $75 dinner credit, and gourmet breakfast for two
- Tokeland Hotel in Tokeland: One-night stay and breakfast for two
- Bag of books and beverages, ten will be awarded

Some days or times of the year may be excluded for some of the overnight stays.*

Grand prizes will be drawn at the TRL headquarters on March 22 (need not be present to win). Local Timberland library branches will also be awarding additional prizes during or at the end of the program. All entries will be included in the grand prize drawing. Businesses and Friends of the Library groups have donated all local and grand prizes.

Participants must be 18 or older and TRL cardholders. Complete rules, entry forms, and prize lists will be available at Timberland libraries and online at www.TRL.org by the last week of December 2011.