Romance novelist Margaret Mallory to speak at an Olympia library after-hours event

Critically acclaimed romance novelist Margaret Mallory will talk about her books, do a short reading, and answer questions at the Olympia Timberland Library on Friday, October 8. The after-hours presentation will begin at 7 p.m. Copies of the book will be available for purchase and signing. Her newest title is Knights of Passion.

Mallory surprised her friends and family by abandoning her legal career and steady job to write novels. She loves spending her days writing stories of love and adventure, instead of going to endless meetings. Her Web site is www.margaretmallory.com.

A 2010 RITA® award finalist, Mallory's work has been recognized by the Romance Writers of America. The RITA, named after RWA's first president, Rita Clay Estrada, promotes excellence in the romance genre by recognizing outstanding published romance novels and novellas. Mallory has also been named one of "the new stars of historical romance" in Booklist magazine.

The library is located at 313 8th Avenue SE, Olympia. For more information, call the library at (360) 352-0595 or go to www.TRL.org.
