Go green while getting things clean:
Learn about safer cleaning products at Shelton and Olympia library programs

Teri King from Washington Sea Grant will present a hands-on workshop on making green cleaning products on Tuesday, May 18 from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. at the Shelton Timberland Library (the William G. Reed Public Library). The program is part of the library's Healthy You series.

You'll be making cleaning products so bring an apron if you have one. All materials for the class will be provided by the program sponsors, the Friends of the Shelton Timberland Library. A portion of the program takes place after regular library hours.

The Shelton library is at 710 W Alder Street, Shelton. For more information, call (360) 426-1362 or go to www.TRL.org

The same day, Michael Bergman will discuss what "clean" means and how to protect yourself and your family from toxins in household products, as well as everyday germs, and how safer, economical cleaners can lead the way. The presentation will be at the Olympia Timberland Library on Tuesday, May 18 from 7:15 to 8 p.m. The library is normally closed at this time and is only open for the program.

Bergman is the Coordinator of the Toxic Free Tips Project of the Hazardous Substance Information and Education Office at the Washington State Department of Ecology .

The Olympia library is at 313 8th Avenue SE, Olympia. For more information, call 313 8th Avenue SE, Olympia or go to www.TRL.org.

Timberland Regional Library provides for the information, reading and lifelong learning needs of the Grays Harbor, Lewis, Mason, Pacific, and Thurston county public at 27 community public libraries and 7 library service partner locations. The library system is funded mainly by local property taxes. Anyone needing special accommodations to participate in a library's program may contact the library one week in advance.
