Len Elway created the website “Washington Baseball Poll” to track statistics for Washington State high school baseball teams. It’s popular with fans from all over the state. Elway, a retired football and baseball coach, built this website using WordPress. His tech support? Library books, online classes and personal coaching from Tumwater Library Manager, Donna Feddern.

“It’s not the typical computer assistance we provide,” Feddern said, “but I’ve used WordPress before, so I’m happy to help him.”

Librarians are Excited About:

Books that teach children the joys of being kind

According to the blog, On Our Mind, published by Scholastic, one of this year’s trends in children’s publishing is the subject of kindness. “The trend is in response to ‘news headlines that can provide children a false perception that the world is unkind and hostile.” Here are four books addressing the value of kindness. They are recommended by TRL’s Youth Materials Selector, Jackie Marquardt.
